MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

The Bread Loaf School of English

Since 1920, the Bread Loaf School of English has held six-week summer sessions, offering graduate courses in literary study, the teaching of writing, creative writing, and drama. The school's home campus is located in a strikingly beautiful setting within sight of Bread Loaf Mountain, several miles outside Middlebury, Vermont.

Bread Loaf offers a very wide range of courses in the study of literature; literary theory; the teaching of writing; acting; directing; and the writing of poetry, drama, and fiction. Students may elect to attend the school for one or two summers, or they may follow a full program of studies leading to a graduate degree (M.A. or M.Litt.), usually in four or five summers. The faculty of the school is drawn from distinguished institutions across the country and from the United Kingdom. The school's students, most of whom are secondary school teachers, are similarly diverse in geographical origin, race, and background.

The Bread Loaf School of English is one of 10 summer programs offered by Middlebury College. There is no graduate program in English offered during the regular academic year.

DEGREE PROGRAMS

THE MASTER OF ARTS (M.A.) DEGREE

Candidates must hold a bachelor's degree from an accredited college and be in residence for at least one summer at the School of English in Vermont. To earn the M.A., students must successfully complete 10 courses (10 units or 30 semester-hour credits).

The normal summer program consists of two courses, each meeting five hours a week; exceptional students may, with permission after the first summer, take a third course for credit. A grade of B- or better is required in order to receive course credit. While the degree usually takes five summers to complete, students may transfer in up to two units (six semester-hour credits) of work and complete the degree in three or four summers.

The curriculum is divided into six groups: (I) Writing and the Art of Teaching, (II) English Language and Literature through the 17th Century, (III) English Literature since the 17th Century, (IV) American Literature, (V) World Literature, (VI) Theater Arts. Ordinarily the M.A. program includes a minimum of two courses each from Groups II and III, and one course each from Groups IV and V.

THE MASTER OF LETTERS (M.LITT.) DEGREE

The M.Litt. program builds, in a concentrated, specialized way, on the broader base of the M.A. in English, which is a prerequisite for the degree. Students choose a field of concentration in which most or all of their course work is done. A field of concentration may be a period (such as the Renaissance), a genre (such as the novel), or a well-defined area of study (such as theater arts and dramatic literature, literary and cultural theory, or writing theory and pedagogy). No thesis is required. In the final summer a student must pass a comprehensive examination covering his or her field of concentration. The program is limited to highly qualified candidates. Students are accepted provisionally for the first summer. At least one summer must be spent in residence at the Bread Loaf School of English in Vermont.

NONDEGREE PROGRAMS

Program in Continuing Graduate Education

The school permits teachers who have their master's degrees or others who have at least a baccalaureate degree to enroll for a summer as nondegree students in continuing graduate education. Upon successful completion of this program, Middlebury College will issue the student a Certificate in Continuing Graduate Education.

Undergraduate Honors Program

Although the School of English offers only graduate courses, exceptionally able undergraduates with strong backgrounds in literary study may apply to Bread Loaf after the completion of three years toward their baccalaureate degree. Their courses may be transferred to their home institutions or they may serve as the initial credits leading to the M.A. degree at the Bread Loaf School of English.

BREADNET

The Bread Loaf School of English operates its own telecommunications system, BreadNet, which is available to all members of the Bread Loaf community, past and present. Through BreadNet, projects begun at the school during the summer session may be carried out during the ensuing academic year. Often, classrooms in different parts of the U.S. and abroad carry out shared projects on BreadNet. Training in the use of computers and in telecommunications is available at Bread Loaf.

ADMISSION

Admission is based on college transcripts, three letters of recommendation, and a writing sample. Students are accepted for one summer only and must reapply for each subsequent summer of study.

Admissions decisions on first-year students are made as applications are received beginning February 1. Students will be considered for admission until May 15, but as the school fills quickly, it is suggested that application materials arrive before March 1, when course registration begins. Decisions on special fellowships may be made somewhat later than others, and will be noted in the application materials. As Bread Loaf is especially committed to increasing diversity in its community, minority applications are encouraged.

FINANCIAL AID

Financial aid is available in the form of grants and/or work aid. The aid is awarded on the basis of financial need and scholastic achievement on a first-come, first-served basis. For that reason, it is prudent to submit all necessary forms and materials as early as possible. Requests for aid should be made when the application form is submitted to the school; all pertinent forms and information will be sent to applicants as soon as they become available.

THE BREAD LOAF PROGRAMS

Each summer, the Bread Loaf School of English assembles a dedicated community of teachers and learners at each of its campuses. Courses are offered in the study of literature and literary theory; the teaching of writing; the writing of fiction, poetry, and drama; and acting and directing. Students follow courses of study leading to the Master of Arts or Master of Letters degrees in English. The emphasis at Bread Loaf has always been upon close contact between teacher and student in an intensive six-week course of study.

BREAD LOAF, VERMONT

Since 1920, the central location for these programs has been the campus situated in sight of Bread Loaf Mountain in the Green Mountains of Vermont. Faculty members from many of the best colleges and universities across the country offer courses in literature, literary theory, writing, the teaching of writing, and theater. All of these courses benefit from the on-site presence of a professional acting ensemble that visits classrooms and, along with actors drawn from the student body, appears in theatrical productions during the summer. The Bread Loaf campus is the site for an extraordinarily varied educational experience.

THE PROGRAM AT OXFORD

Bread Loaf also offers a summer program at Lincoln College, Oxford, where students enroll in one two-unit seminar/tutorial for the session. Courses are offered in the study of literature and literary theory, the teaching of writing, and the study of dramatic texts, coupled with frequent trips to dramatic productions in London and Stratford.

THE PROGRAM IN NEW MEXICO

Bread Loaf also offers courses at the Native American Preparatory School in Rowe, New Mexico, 40 miles outside Santa Fe. In this southwestern setting, students take courses in literature, literary theory, and the teaching of writing. At Bread Loaf/New Mexico special emphasis is placed upon such subjects as Native American literature, nature writing of the Southwest and Great Basin, and American Hispanic literature.

THE PROGRAM IN ALASKA

Beginning in 1999, Bread Loaf will offer a full program at a fourth site, the University of Alaska Southeast in Juneau. Courses at Bread Loaf/Alaska will take advantage of Juneau's unique location, and several courses will focus on the literature and landscape of the Pacific Northwest and on indigenous cultures. Students at Bread Loaf/Alaska will be able to choose between a six- or three-week program of study.

ANNENBERG RURAL CHALLENGE FELLOWSHIPS

A generous grant from the Annenberg Rural Challenge will provide fellowships covering costs up to $5,000 for 18 rural teachers to attend Bread Loaf in 1999. Only teachers associated with partners of the Annenberg Rural Challenge are eligible to apply for these fellowships.

FELLOWSHIPS FOR RURAL TEACHERS FROM ALASKA, ARIZONA, COLORADO, GEORGIA, NEW MEXICO, AND VERMONT

Thanks to a generous grant from the DeWitt Wallace-Reader's Digest Fund, Bread Loaf will offer full-cost fellowships to up to 25 rural teachers from the six target states listed above. The awards will cover tuition, room, board, travel, and a $1,000 grant for classroom projects during 1999-2000.
